

Abstract

On page 10, please insert the following abstract:

The invention relates to a method for immediately transmitting electronic messages to the telecommunication device of a receiver, preferably mobile, consisting in transmitting the electronic message from an emitter to a receiver by means of an electronic message server. According to said invention, the electronic messages are transmitted to the mobile telecommunication device of the receiver by means of a MMS or WAP system.